

Please comment on this map

Future Land Use Map

Centers

- Regional Employment (1,520 acres)
- Town Square (92 acres)
- Neighborhood (256 acres)

Neighborhoods

- Urban (516 acres)
- Traditional (3,000 acres)
- Suburban (6,800 acres)

Corridors

- Transitional (1,382 acres)
- Suburban (852 acres)

Other

- Industry & Technology
- Civic
- Recreation and Outdoor Entertainment
- Rural

Boundaries

- City Boundary
- Planning Boundary

- Single-Family Detached
- Single-Family Attached
- Multifamily

Add the average density / comparison to existing and other scenarios

Centers

[illegible]

Neighborhoods

PLACE TYPES

Urban Neighborhood

Urban Neighborhood is a place type that includes a variety of urban environments, from dense, walkable neighborhoods to more sprawling, car-dependent areas. It is characterized by a mix of land uses, including residential, commercial, and industrial, and a high density of buildings and people. Urban neighborhoods are typically located in the center of a city or near major transportation corridors.

Urban neighborhoods are often characterized by a mix of land uses, including residential, commercial, and industrial. They are typically located in the center of a city or near major transportation corridors. Urban neighborhoods are often characterized by a mix of land uses, including residential, commercial, and industrial. They are typically located in the center of a city or near major transportation corridors.

Urban neighborhoods are often characterized by a mix of land uses, including residential, commercial, and industrial. They are typically located in the center of a city or near major transportation corridors. Urban neighborhoods are often characterized by a mix of land uses, including residential, commercial, and industrial. They are typically located in the center of a city or near major transportation corridors.

[illegible]

Corridors & Other

PLACE TYPES

Transitional Corridor

TRANSITIONAL CORRIDOR

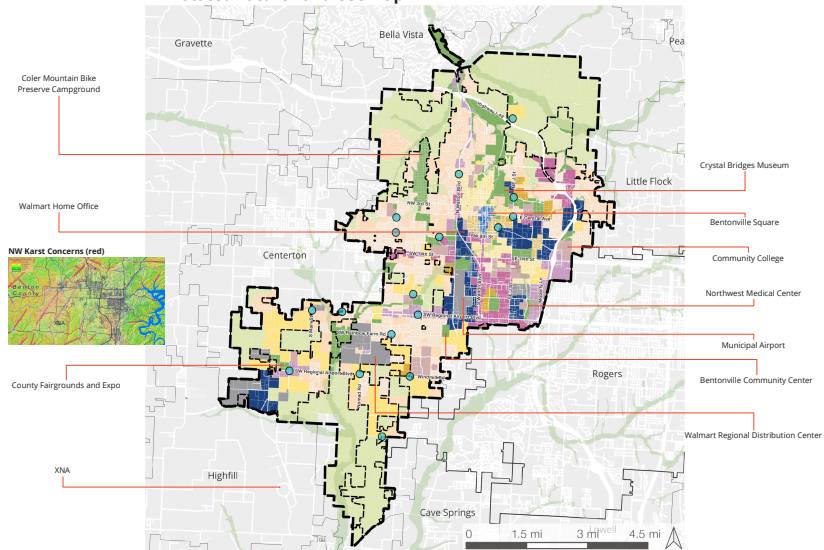

CITY CENTER

LEGEND

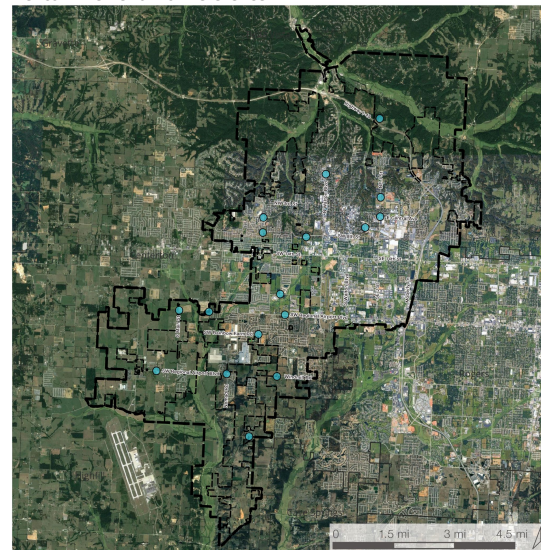

- TRANSITIONAL CORRIDOR
- CITY CENTER
- SUBURBAN
- RURAL

0 1 mile

Annotated Future Land Use Map

Bentonville Aerial For Reference

June is the beginning of public feedback

Farmer's Market

Reaching out to organizations with big platforms.

Sapna - Happy to share videos/develop them

Develop a short blurb for Kalene and other Steering Committee
Members to share

Digital public access - GIS
based Story Maps

Scott focus on short vid or other social outreach bugs

Kalene - Newsletter to residents
via Visit Bentonville
Speaking at events in the future - willing to plug.

Chamber Highlights - Talk to Brandom

local radio
KURM KOBV
KUAF might do a story.
Podcast?

See if restaurants will hand out flyers with menus

Chamber and industry newsletters are good options

Get it in the June newsletter

PC meetings -
share the link at the top of the agenda

Realtors engage with community
- get them to share with clients

A blurb at the top of the public
maps page